Fuqua School of business, Duke University

Fall semester

Duke University is located at Durham North Carolina. We arrived at the end of August 2014 and the weather was similar to the weather in Israel along the semester.

We lived at 605 west: <http://www.605westapartments.com>

Which was located 5 min drive from Fuqua. It is a new complex and therefore was in great shape. We had an apartment which included furniture, electrical equipment, WiFi, Cables and water was free. The people living in the complex were very nice and the staff was extremely helpful.

The transportation in Durham is not very developed, therefore it is impossible to live there without having a car. We leased a car from:

“First Choice Leasing” Cell: 919-475-2599, www.firstchoiceleasing.net

We got Toyota Camery 2013 which was very nice and repayable for the rainy days.

The Fuqua School of business is well known for its Health Sector Management program (HSM). Since I came from the medical device industry I chose to participate in the HSM courses such as: Medical device strategy with Greg Device. The course was very relevant and gave me a lot of tools for my next position.

Other course was Biotech & Pharmaceutical Strategy which gave me strong insights on the Pharma world.

We came to Fuqua and were surprised by the fact that the career center was not giving us their services. We were not invited to companies' presentations and could not attend to any of the on campus recruitments.

The school is very team work oriented and therefore most of the assignments were team assignments. They have the “Team Fuqua” which is what makes this school stand out.

In order to encourage the students to develop as much connections with their class mates, the school created the Fuqua Friday which means that every Friday

To sum it up: if one of your goals is job searching and networking with recruiters, DO NOT GO TO DUKE!

If you are looking for pure academic experience, than this is the place to go.

The full time MBA students are at Duke are very diverse and come from all over the world, so you will be able to learn about different cultures as much as you like.

The Fuqua School is a very good place for its high academic level but does not provide you with any career services. Durham is a nice town with nice and warm people, but the public transportation is poor and you will need to have a car.
